

The Delta Protection Commission Hosts Three Community Workshops to Provide an Update on the Delta Primary Zone Study

The Delta Protection Commission is hosting three community workshops to provide an update on the Delta Primary Zone Study. The community workshops offer an opportunity for the public to learn about the study, and to review and provide input on the preliminary findings.

Workshops will be held on November 3, November 4 and November 9, 2010 from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m., and will begin with a brief overview presentation at 6:15 p.m. See below for specific workshop locations. Information stations providing maps, aerial photographs and other displays will be available. Representatives from the Delta Protection Commission and project consultant team will be available to explain the work to date, answer questions and discuss ideas.

Additional study information is available at:

Background In November 2009, the California Legislature passed, and Governor Schwarzenegger signed, a comprehensive water package that included four policy bills and an $11.14 billion bond measure. Senate Bill X7-1 (SB 1) by Senators Simitian and Steinberg established the framework to achieve the co-equal goals of providing a more reliable water supply to California and restoring and enhancing the Delta ecosystem. SB 1 directs the DPC to prepare and submit to the Legislature recommendations regarding the potential expansion of or change to the Primary Zone or the Delta. The DPC is directed by SB 1 to consider recommendations on the status of all of the following areas: Rio Vista, Isleton, Bethel Island, Brannan-Andrus Island, Cosumnes/Mokelumne floodway, and the San Joaquin/South Delta Study Area.
